

The Eno River Fellowship Foundation, RCWMS, + Flipping Cancer Project present

Our Bodies, Our Stories: Dreaming Health Justice Community Performance

Saturday, March 2, 2024, 4:00 to 5:15pm

Eno River Unitarian Universalist Fellowship (Sanctuary): 4907 Garrett Rd, Durham NC

In movement, stillness, story, ritual, and music, local patients, caregivers, and healthcare workers will join to reimagine what “health justice” means in our communities and beyond.

Come for a contemplative gathering, as audience supporters for vibrancy, realness, humor, and desires for change arising in people who navigate cancer and life-threatening illness.

Community ensemble and artist collaborations facilitated by Marie Garlock, PhD. Sound healing music by Rev. Stacy Grove. Disability accommodations, COVID safety, and family-friendly viewing room onsite. ...We invite you to come refill your well.

RSVP, free to all: itisinyou.org/performance-march-2
